'Malpractice' caseload high

The nationwide malpractice suit problem continues and is affecting this area with special emphasis, authorities said today.
Madison County is regarded as one of the leading areas in the nation in terms of the number of suits filed against medical doctors and hospitals, also in the size of jury awards to those filing suits.
Physicians are regarded as about equally competent in various parts of the U. S., but some regions tend to be more willing than others to find in favor of the plaintiffs. Judgments often are rendered in six-figure amounts, taking into account the loss of potential future earnings.
Malpractice insurance is becoming more costly across the nation, forcing some doctors to give up their practices entirely, and further aggravating the doctor shortage.

Examples are two 1975 lawsuits filed against groups of doctors that include Granite City.
One suit asks for $2,100,000, alleging inadequate surgical procedures and post-operative care related to a traumatized common duct following upper abdominal pain.
The woman filing the suit says she has been impaired in pursuing her usual and ordinary activities and requires close supervision even for brief walks within her home.
A man seeking $200,000 says he suffered a left knee injury and failed to receive proper examination, diagnosis and treatment, leading to severe and permanent injuries and impairment of the knee.
It is asserted that he was denied state compensation for 17 months due to lack of full evaluation of the injury.
Both cases are currently pending.
A lawyer (not associated with either case) says insurance companies are a big part of the overall problem.

Boy, 11 wounded fatally by pistol

Dennis Edward Duffin, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duffin, 2240 Lynch Ave., died from a bullet wound to the abdomen while playing "cops and robbers" at his home about 11:55 a.m. Sunday.
Dennis was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner at 12:20 p.m. An inquest is pending.

The youngster's brother, David Alan, 12, told police officers that he, Dennis and his younger brother, Darin Blaise, 7, were playing cops and robbers and his father's gun was taken from the top drawer in the front bedroom dresser.
The weapon, a .357 magnum pistol loaded with armor piercing shells, fired and the bullet struck Dennis in the abdomen.
Police said the bullet lodged in the east door of the room near the door jamb.
The older brother called St. Elizabeth Hospital, which notified police.

The boys' father was out-of-town at the time of the accident and their mother was visiting a relative confined at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Dennis was born and reared in Granite City. He was a sixth grade pupil at St. Elizabeth Parochial School and a member of St. Elizabeth Church.

His father is a partner in Duffin Bros. Lumber Co., and operates lumber yards in Madison and Mitchell.

Beside his parents and brothers, Dennis is survived by a sister, Dawn Marie Duffin, at home; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Szymek of Granite City and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Duffin of Granite City and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Woolard of Jennings, Mo.; and several aunts and uncles.
Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Fake policeman is still on loose after 3 local incidents

SOUGHT BY POLICE as a suspect for impersonating a police officer while trying unsuccessfully to gain entry to a woman's home on Madison Avenue last week. The composite drawing was prepared by police. One rape and two attempts to enter homes, all by a man wearing a police uniform, have been reported here during the past nine days. The man is described as in his 20s, having shoulder length brown hair, weighing 170 to 180 pounds and wearing a full police uniform.

Phony revenue agent is active

Granite City police this week warned area residents to beware of a man who is calling homes impersonating an official of the Internal Revenue Service.
Officers said they have not been able to determine a motive for the calls, but the caller always tells women he is with the IRS and asks if the husband is at home.

IRS business with taxpayers is conducted through the mails. Police requested anyone receiving such a call to hang up before answering any questions and then call the nearest law law enforcement agency.

Steal food from Mitchell School

A large quantity of food was stolen from the kitchen of Mitchell Elementary School, 316 E. Chain of Rocks Road, during a burglary which was reported at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Stolen were about 200 pounds of ground meat in 50-pound containers, a case of eggs, seven boxes of French fried potatoes, and large quantities of half-pints of milk and bread.
A case of milk cartons was found near Interstate 270 and Engineers Road.
Madison County sheriff's deputies were unable to determine how entry was gained.

More than usual are eligible for refunds

Each year, through excessive withholding, millions of taxpayers overpay their income taxes. When return filing time rolls around, they are in line for refunds rather than further payments. H. A. Schussel, president of the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants, noted today.

This year, the depressed economy has placed in this category many additional Americans — those who were out of work for at least part of 1974.

During the time they were working, taxes were withheld at a rate based on the assumption that the taxpayers would be earning the same incomes all year, which proved not to be the case.

How can those with refunds coming get the money Uncle Sam owes them, without delay?

The only way is to file income tax returns early. The returns must be accompanied by W-2 forms from employers, stating total wages paid and income taxes, Social Security and other payments taken out of it.

Employers had until Jan. 31 to send these forms to employees still working, while those who were laid off with little likelihood of being rehired before the end of the year received their W-2s within 30 days after they were paid their final wages, the Illinois CPA Society president said.

Persons with moderate incomes sometimes fail to file tax returns because they know the full tax on what they earned has been paid. They overlook the fact that any overwithholding will not be refunded unless they send in a return.

Does the receipt of unemployment benefits, welfare payments and food stamps affect one's tax liability? It does not, these are nontaxable forms of income, Schussel related.

If you have enough of them, exemptions — worth $750 each — can reduce your taxable income substantially, he adds. Most people are aware that they can claim exemptions for themselves, for a spouse with whom they file a joint tax return, and for dependents. But who qualified as a dependent?

What about the child in college who is over 19? Or the aged parent in a nursing home? Or the person, not a relative, who lives in your home? Schussel urges taxpayers to take advantage of all the exemptions to which they are entitled.

With certain exceptions in order for an individual to qualify as your dependent, he must have during the tax year: —Obtained more than half his support from you.

—Had a gross income under $750. (This does not apply to your children under 19, nor to those older than that who are full-time students.)

—Lived with you for the entire year. (This does not apply to close relatives.)

—Been a citizen or resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico or Panama.

—Not filed a joint return with some other person, unless it was only to claim a tax refund, not because the tax return was required. (Called the Archie Bunker rule because Archie's daughter is married to a student but lives in her parents' home.)

Generally, a person who was a qualified dependent for any period of the year, however brief, can be claimed for the full exemption.

Thus, you may claim an exemption for a person who may have died in 1974 or a person you married or adopted, no matter how late in the year. But there are some exceptions:

—If your spouse had in dependent income, the exemption can be claimed only if you file jointly.

—If your spouse died and you remarried during the tax year, you cannot claim the late spouse as a dependent.

—If you were divorced or legally separated at the end of the tax year, you can't claim the former spouse.

A person who is 65 or whose eyesight has fallen below a specified level can claim a second exemption. Thus, a couple filing jointly, both past 65 or legally blind, may claim four exemptions.

But if persons in such condition are dependents of someone else, that other person cannot claim the extra exemptions.

In the case of an elderly person, more than half of whose support is provided by several children, none of whom provides 50 per cent or more of the support, the parent can be taken as a dependent on a rotating basis.

Any one of those contributing more than 10 per cent of the support claims the exemption, while other contributors of more than 10 per cent agree in a written statement attached to the return not to make the claim on their returns for that year, it was explained.

Ill. State Chamber luncheon Thursday

Area business leaders will meet Thursday to hear about state legislative concerns and business issues from the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce. The noon luncheon meeting will be held in Fischer's Restaurant, Belleville.

"You're Somebody Special With us!"

Spelling bees were the rage in this state a century ago

During March 1875, although Illinoisans paraded and celebrated on St. Patrick's Day, and filled the churches to overflowing on Easter Sunday, the most popular public entertainments were—spelling bees.

Newspapers of the evening in the collections of the Illinois State Historical Library relate that spelling bees were a statewide craze.

None of the papers, however, used the term "spelling bee." Instead, they called the event a spelling match, tournament, tourney, school or contest.

Usually they treated the subject lightly—the Chicago Inter-Ocean headed a story "Spelling Skew," the Rock Island Union used "Spelling Skale" and Springfield's Illinois State Register called one an "Orthographical Tourney."

The origin of the craze or fad was not traced but the State Register said, "The spelling mania which broke out a few weeks ago in distant portion of the country shows no signs of abatement."

"On the contrary, it is spreading and bids fair to find its way into every crossroads schoolhouse in the land... into almost every household it penetrates, and not infrequently father, mother and offspring are simultaneously stricken."

The contests were so popular that each city would have two or three a week.

Admissions were charged and prizes were awarded to the winning spellers.

Attendance usually taxed the capacity of the church, school, hall or theater where the event was held.

Although attendance figures were seldom given, the Peoria Daily Transcript reported that one contest attracted a crowd of "nearly 1,400 people" in Rouse's Hall.

The event was a battle between 15-member teams from the Peoria High School and the Peoria County Normal School. The contest ended in a draw at 9:50 p.m. when the audience voted to let the contestants have a rest, with six members still undefeated on each team.

The evening's entertainment did not end, however, until the city's lawyers had defeated the doctors and the Chamber of Commerce in separate contests.

Gen. John Hugh, of the lawyers, "was declared the winner amid wild cheering" and the school's contest was postponed to a later date.

The battle of the month would have to be the one that was held in the Springfield armory of the Governor's Guard when members of the House of Representatives accepted the challenge of the State Senate.

The event was a benefit for a mission church near the west end of the city, and an admission of 50 cents was charged.

"The seating capacity of the hall was not equal to the demands of the occasion," according to the State Register.

There were 17 members on each team, and the evening's winner of the silver goblet was Rep. William R. Hubbard of Marion County who correctly spelled "accoumha."

The Register reporter evidently enjoyed writing his one-and-one-half column story, parts of which read: "The next victim was Senator Cusey. It was 'moiey' that was too much for him."

"Senator Glassford insisted him into obscurity for insisting on taking two '1's' in his 'celery'."

"We fail to see anything intricate in the orthography of 'intracuity,' notwithstanding the fact that Senator Robinson of Taxewell passed out on it. 'Foreordained' beat Mr. Goodrich of the House."

"And Senator Archer went wide of his mark when he put an 'e' in the middle of 'esplanade'."

Self-employment tax applies to many here

Significant numbers of Springfield District taxpayers who perform part-time work as a sideline may be unaware that this additional income could be subject to self-employment tax, the Internal Revenue Service reports.

Ira S. Loeb, district director of Internal Revenue for Central and Southern Illinois, pointed out that for self-employment tax purposes, "self-employed" means more than regular full-time business activities.

"It also covers certain part-time work, including what you do at home or on the side in addition to your regular job," he noted.

"It is important for the person with a sideline job to pay the tax," Loeb stressed, "to ensure that he gets full Social Security credit for all his earnings."

Loeb said earnings often overlooked as subject to self-employment tax are the items usually reported as "Other Income" on Form 1040 or 1040A. An example cited by Loeb is a sideline activity subject to self-employment tax is bookkeeping and related service for several clients by an individual serving as an independent contractor.

Another example is repair work on radios and televisions performed by an individual in his home as a sideline.

The income such individuals derive from these activities, according to Loeb, is self-employment income.

Owners of boarding houses and apartment houses, tourist homes or motels are subject to self-employment tax on income received if services are also rendered for the occupants.

Other sideline income usually subject to self-employment tax includes activities involving sewing and alterations, musicians' fees, contract labor, directors' fees, officiating at sports, construction work, specialty sales, repair work, painting, architectural services and owning of a taxicab.

Loeb explained that the self-employment tax is part of the system providing Social Security coverage for persons who work for themselves.

Each self-employed person must pay self-employment tax on part or all of his income to help finance Social Security benefits, which are payable to self-employed persons as well as wage earners.

"You must file an income tax return and pay self-employment tax if you have net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more, even though you are not otherwise required to file an income tax return," Loeb added.

Although a husband files a joint return with his wife, the wife is not considered to be a self-employed person with respect to the husband's net earnings from self-employment. But if the wife has self-employment income of her own, Loeb said, that income is subject to the self-employment tax.

Social pressures affect family size

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser-Home Economics
The average size of American families has become smaller over the years, mostly for economic reasons.

But new research at John Hopkins University on family size reveals other factors regarding the impact of social pressures on young couples toward having children.

Trends noted in the survey showed that more wives under 25 wanted two children and fewer wanted three or more children.

There was also an increase in the number of wives who expected to remain childless.

Both men and women apparently are under pressure from parents and other close relatives and friends to have at least one child. Women, more so than men, seemed to expect that their social relationships with other couples of near the same age would be adversely affected if they remained childless.

And some childless couples were concerned that others would consider them selfish because they had no children. Many parents with only one child were concerned over the child being socially and personally disadvantaged. The parents also thought that others would consider an only child a "spoiled" child, according to the survey.

Miss Joan Hollenbeck, the four girls were selected by their high school principals as the "Good Citizens" of their senior classes. Pins and certificates were awarded to the girls who were chosen on the basis of dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Regent Ruth McCarty welcomed the members and guests and invited the girls and their mothers to apply for membership in the DAR if they could trace their lineage back to a participant in the American Revolutionary War.

Mrs. Barbara Williams presented a brief program on "Women of the Revolutionary War Period." Others participating on the program were Mrs. McCarty, Mrs. Emma Schoen, Mrs. Margaret Bell and Miss Ella Ray Smith.

The Youth Choir of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church under the direction of Paul Mabry sang "There's a Quiet Understanding," "I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing" and "Peace Like a River."

Miss Mary Beth Scaturro, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scaturro, 808 Third Street, Venice, is the Good Citizen from Venice High School.

She serves as treasurer of her junior and senior high school classes, and was a member of the Future Homemakers of America, student council junior play cast and band. She worked for one year in the high school principal's office and is a member of St. Mark's CYC.

Miss Joan Range, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Range, 2518 Klara Drive, is the Good Citizen from Granite City High School. A member and past president of the Modern Music Masters, she serves as accompanist for various school choral groups and was an accompanist for the Park District's "Music Under the Stars."

She is a member of the National Honor Society, Red Peppers Pep Club and participates in the monthly youth mass at St. Margaret Mary Church.

Miss Karen Marcus, the Good Citizen from Granite City High School North, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Marcus, 4106 Stearns Ave. She is a member of the Silver Spirit Club at North. She is a candy stripper at St. Elizabeth Hospital and a member of the St. Elizabeth Church guitar group.

She is the current president of the student council and the Latin club and serves as treasurer of the senior class and vice-president of the Honor Society. She is active in band, is a member of the civil defense radiation group at Madison High and is in the editor of the yearbook staff. She attends St. John United Church of Christ, in Granite City.

The March meeting of the DAR will be held at the home of Mrs. Jane Ann Vanseller and will feature a speaker from St. Louis on the topic of "National Defense."

Persons in the community who are interested in tracing their lineage or developing their family tree are invited to attend a public mini-workshop on genealogy on Saturday, April 19, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Other members attending were Mrs. Helen Gantcheff, Mrs. Janet Wilson, Mrs. Gladys Chapman, Mrs. Mamie Frohardt, Mrs. D. Reva Turner, Miss Nelle Hart and Miss Mary Candler.

Guests present were Miss Patricia Whalen, Mr. and Mrs. Scaturro and Mary Beth, Mrs. Otis Hollenbeck and Joan; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marcus and Karen, Diane, Kevin and Brian; Mrs. Grace Range and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Range and Joan, Susan and Ellen.

about this question:

"Melting ice and snow on our house roof leaked up under the shingles and seeped over the inside ceiling and walls. We'll have a big bill for replastering and wall papering. Is such water damage covered by an 'all risk' Homeowner Policy, but not by a 'broad form' policy?"

Devils top Trojans in regional, advance to sectional tourney

When tournament time rolls around, the Venice High School basketball team has proved itself to be one of the best anywhere during the 1960s and 1970s, under William Ohlendorf and then Richard Esington. The Red Devils have lost none of their tourney prowess, they showed again Friday night. Venice's offense-defense and charity tosses combined Friday to eliminate the Madison Trojans 38-47 in the championship game of the DuPo Class A basketball regional meet.

Venice now meets Vandalia at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Vandalia sectional meet.

Undefeated Nokomis opens the competition at Vandalia 7:30 p.m. tomorrow against Lebanon.

On Friday, winners of the Tuesday and Wednesday games will clash for the sectional title at 7:30 p.m.

The sectional champion will win the right to meet the Red Hill sectional champion March 11 at Charleston to decide an "elite eight" state entry.

Tickets for Red Devil fans wishing to attend the Venice basketball games this week at the Vandalia sectional can be purchased today through 3 p.m. Wednesday at the superintendent's office, or by calling 451-7082.

Arrangements also are being made to provide chartered bus service to Vandalia.

Cost of admission tickets is $1.50 per adult and $1 per student.

Red Devil bumper stickers and banners may be purchased at the school office.

At DuPo Friday, Madison held a 13-14 margin over Venice at the end of the first quarter but the Devils then virtually shut off Madison's inside shooting.

Red Devil Mike Henry's dominance of the boards helped hold the Trojans to only three points in the second period, giving Venice a 26-18 halftime advantage.

Madison kept within six points, 37-31, going into the final period.

Venice found its mark from the free throw line in the fourth quarter, making good 15 of its game total of 21 foul shots, to outscore the Trojans 21-16.

The victory marked a third consecutive regional title for Venice while Madison lost its bid for the crown for the second year in a row.

Both teams kept the field goal shooting to a minimum with their defensive strategies. Madison shot 32 per cent from the field, making 19 of 59 shots. Venice hit 18 of 51 shots for 31 per cent.

Taking advantage of 24 Madison fouls, the Red Devils found their victory margin at the foul line, making 22 of 34 attempts.

Madison was nine of 13 from the foul line on 12 Red Devil fouls.

Each team was guilty of 11 turnovers and Venice edged Madison on rebounding, 28-36.

Five Red Devils tallied Venice's points: Reggie Gardner 17, Mike Henry 15, James Turner 12, Jeff Corrie 10 and James Crowder four.

Scoring for Madison were Rudolph Bradley with 14, Darryl Franklin 12, Joe Gulash nine, Mike Williams seven, Curtis Bradley and Emmett Timmons two each and Ron Jones, one.

The loss ended Madison's 1974-75 cage season with an 18-4 record. Venice is now 28-2.

Captain Larry Graham's Trojans had a happier time Thursday evening when they won 76-61 in their semifinal contest with Freeburg.

Quarter leads for MHS were 19-12, 39-24 and 59-37. The Trojans led in field goals 33-27 and in free throws 10-7, committing ten fouls to Freeburg's seven.

Madison pointmakers were Rudolph Bradley 23, Jones 18, Franklin 17, Timmons and Gulash six each and Evan Dandridge, Randall Jones and Mike Stanley, two each.

Venice breezed past Columbia 76-50 in the other semifinal contest Thursday, chalking up quarter leads of 17-10, 35-25 and 57-33.

Henry sparked with 26 points. Turner tallied 18, Gardner 10, Corrie and Crowder eight each, Mike Logan four and James Crawford, two.

The Red Devils led 35-10 in baskets and trailed 12-6 in charity tosses.

Regional basketball games tonight for both South, North

The 68th annual Illinois High School Association boys' state basketball tournament series opened last week with Class A at the Vandalia sectional for small schools (750 or less) and now the large enrollment schools take to the courts starting tonight to the Class AA regional play.

Both Granite City High School North and South are entered in the Collinsville regional, and both have high hopes of blocking the host Hawks' bid for a fourth consecutive regional title.

South opens the competition tonight with a seven o'clock game against Highland, and GCHS North and O'Fallon then meet in an 8:30 contest tonight at Collinsville.

Tomorrow at 7:30 p.m., top-seeded Collinsville takes on the winner of today's Highland-GCHS South contest.

And on Wednesday, second-seeded Edwardsville plays the winner of the GCHS North-O'Fallon game at 7:30 p.m.

In the event the Warriors and Steelers win, tickets for the games will go on sale Tuesday at 7:30 a.m. in the South and North main offices.

Tickets for tonight are $2 at the door for adults and students.

The winners of tomorrow's and Wednesday's contests will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the title contest, with the victor meeting the Hillsboro regional winner at the East St. Louis sectional March 11.

The sectional champion advances to super-sectional action against the West Frankfort sectional champion March 18 at Carbondale.

The victor at Carbondale will complete March 21 in the state finals at the University of Illinois.

Collinsville, which this weekend downed Belleville

36-point night for McFarland

A super night for senior Keith McFarland helped the Southern Illinois University Edwardsville basketball team sprint by Blackburn College 102-76 Thursday night at Collinsville.

McFarland, a native of Troy, hit 16 of 25 shots from the floor and finished with 36 points, 14 over his season's average of 22.6.

He also played aggressively around the net, snagging 14 rebounds, second-best for the Cougars.

It was rebounding, along with McFarland's big night, that made the difference. SIUE out-rebounded the Beavers 54-30 and SIUE's big center, 6-10 freshman Dan Donahue, led everyone with 16 rebounds.

The victory gave SIUE an 18-7 record (Blackburn is now 8-14) and revived the Cougars' sagging hopes of obtaining a bid to the NCAA Division II playoffs.

Thursday night's decision snapped a four-game losing streak.

The Cougars have one more regular season game left, and it promises to be a tough one between two potential rivals.

SIUE tangles with the University of Missouri-St. Louis in an 8 o'clock contest tonight to be played at Washington University.

Page and Whelan lead GC teams in hotly-contested state wrestling tournament

For the first time since 1965 the Illinois High School Association Class AA state wrestling championship at Champaign has ended in a deadlock between competing teams — Richards of Oak Lawn and Bloom of Chicago Heights, each with 33 points.

Granite City shared the 1965 state title.

The Warriors of Granite City High School South finished third Saturday with six team points, and GCHS North and Belleville East ended in a 46th place tie with four points each.

The season-ending state mat finals also marked the first time since GCHS shared the title a decade ago that a winning team earned top honors without producing a single weight class champion or runnerup.

Oak Lawn emerged with two third-place matmen and two fifth-place finishers.

In Class A action, Savannah High School earned 51½ points to successfully defend its 1974 title. Normal University High placed second with 44½ points.

Of the seven wrestlers representing the two Granite City high schools at Champaign, two emerged from the tournament as place winners.

Kevin Page (S), at 118 pounds, fifth place, and Keith Whelan (N), at 98 pounds, sixth place.

"The competition was very severe," South mentor William Schmitt noted.

"An example of how tough it was is reflected in the fact that all of the wrestlers who qualified from our sectional meet, only were placed winners," Springfield Southeast had a fourth-place matman, in addition to Page and Whelan.

Four of Granite City's representatives competed in consolation bouts after first-round losses. Results follow:

98 pounds — Whelan (N) lost 4-0 to Jeff Rock of Skokie Niles East and Jim Caschetta (S) lost to Lee Jones, a Danville matman, 7-2.

105 — Matt McCullough (N) lost to Mike Gardner of Glen Ellyn-Glenbard West by a decision, 11-2 — Steve Garland (S) lost to Ken Whittaker (S) 6-4.

119 — Kevin Page (S) lost to Kevin Cortez of Addison Trail 7-5; 138 — Don Hasty (S) lost to Chris Raasmussen of Lansing 6-5; and 155 — Brian Wilson lost to Jim Morris of Glenbard South 9-2.

Whelan, Page and Wilson kept their hopes alive in the consolation bracket with victories over opposing matmen, while Garland was eliminated from further competition after a 7-1 loss.

Whelan of Coach Walter Whitaker's North High Steelers pinned Millard Harvey of Chicago Vocational in 4:39, Page dethroned Rich Wilhelm of Buffalo Grove 8-7 and Wilson dethroned Glen McDermitt of Round Lake 15-10.

Wilson was eliminated from the competition after losing his next bout 3-0 to Mike Lauber of Chillicothe, while wins enabled Whelan and Page to advance.

Whelan dethroned Don Schafer of Sterling 5-4 and Page won over Chuck Rivera of Bowling Brooks 4-3.

Whelan lost to Kevin Kick of Mundelein 4-4 and placed sixth in the tournament after losing to Mike Koch of Franklin Park 7-0 in a fifth-place bout.

Page lost to a Homewood-Flossmoor wrestler 6-3 and then captured his fifth-place match by defeating Dave Palmer of Rockford East 6-3.

"The tournament speaks for itself," said Schmitt. "Any time a school can win without a champion, the competition was extremely tough."

GC site of Midwest tourney for state softball champions

For the first time since the tournament's inception in 1969, the Granite City Park District will host the annual Illinois Amateur Softball Association (IASA) women's softball Midwest regional tournament Aug. 15-17.

Harold Brown, vice-president of the association and regional manager for the tournament, relates that the 16-game double-elimination tournament will consist of 10 teams.

Included will be the 1975 Illinois state champion and runner-up, the Chicago metropolitan champion and runner-up, the Wisconsin state champion and runner-up, and Milwaukee metropolitan area champion and runner-up, and the defending regional champion and runner-up.

The champion here in August will advance to a national softball tournament at Jacksonville, Fla., on Labor Day weekend.

A Granite City team has emerged as champion every year: Schreiber's in 1969, Mercer in 1970-71, the Rebels in 1972 and Petrillo Produce in 1973 and 1974.

Forest Park was runner-up last year in Petrillo in the meet held at St. Charles, Ill.

Assisting Brown in completing arrangements for the event here are Mayor Paul Schuler; Casper S. Nighossian, manager of Sammy's softball team; and Linda Spence and Paula Voss, representatives of Sammy's team, which is acting as host in conjunction with the park district.

Soccer openings for boys — 6, 7 and 10 years old

With the YMCA Soccer Association spring season scheduled to begin this month, an association spokesman relates that boys are still needed to fill rosters of teams in two divisions — Pee Wee and Junior Bantam.

The Pee Wee division age group is split into two parts: Juniors — boys who will not be seven before Dec. 31, 1975; and seniors — seven-year-olds who will not be eight before Dec. 31, 1975.

Junior Bantam boys may compete in that division if they will not be eleven before Dec. 31, 1975.

Dave Favier, president of the association, notes that to register, information regarding a boy's full name, address, telephone number, parent or legal guardian's name and date of birth will be required.

Athletes interested in registering for either age group may obtain additional information by contacting the local "Y" at 876-7200.

HERE IS YOUR ONLY CHANCE

Equal pay for equal work is guaranteed by the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and by the Equal Employment Opportunities Act of 1972. If any woman is discriminated against in employment, she can file a claim with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and it will pay the costs of processing the claim and filing the suit for back pay.

(U.S. News and World Report, August 14, 1973).

"The ERA (Equal Rights Amendment) will become federal law if ratified by 38 states. It is nearing that goal. If made law, it will change many areas of life in adverse ways. The Yale Law Journal, Vol. 80, No. 5, April, 1971, tells the facts. They are frightening."

HERE ARE SOME EXAMPLES OF WHAT ERA WILL DO IF PASSED:

ERA will make women subject to the draft on an equal basis with men. ERA will wipe out Congress' present power to exempt women.

ERA will eliminate all-girls' and all-boys' colleges if they receive any Federal aid whatsoever, and integrate boys' and girls' physical education classes in colleges and high schools.

ERA will NOT give women "equal pay for equal work," better paying jobs, promotions, or better working conditions. ERA will add nothing whatsoever to the Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972.

Churches of Christ as well as many other religious groups are banning together to help stop ERA. A caravan of church buses from the Granite City area will be leaving Granite City Tuesday Morning, March 4 at 7:00 A.M. for Springfield, Ill. to let our Representatives know we are against ERA. WE URGE ANYONE WHO IS AGAINST ERA TO RIDE THE BUSES WITH US TO SPRINGFIELD TO SHOW THAT WE ARE AGAINST THE ERA.

Road progress good but why not put it into use now?

The glittering array of commercial facilities that now stretch for almost the entire length of Nameoki Road is an impressive sight and a great asset to this community. Equally impressive, but in a negative way, are the traffic problems that have developed.

As has been repeatedly apparent for a number of months, much has to be done unless the Nameoki Road shopping district is to be artificially limited in its business volume by the physical constraints of the streets leading toward it. This would be tragic, for the healthy economic activity that is being generated is most welcome in such an uncertain era as the mid-1970s.

The city government stands to benefit directly in meeting its obligations because of the municipal sales tax revenue it derives from retail transactions.

City officials Feb. 24 wisely voted to launch an engineering study of drainage factors involved in constructing a new roadway from the 25th Street area toward the vicinity of Nameoki and Ponton Roads.

Such a step is logical but it reinforces citizens' awareness of the ponderous nature of many public projects; awesome time spans and costs are associated with preliminary studies, development of plans and specifications, contract awards and actual construction.

Since some form of access in addition to that afforded by way of Fehling Road and Madison Avenue was needed "yesterday," rather than months or years from now, one wonders if it might be the path of wisdom to beg or borrow enough industrial slag to get the railroad right-of-way route paved and in immediate use. More customary paving then could follow as soon as possible, but the congestion meanwhile would be eased.

Press-Record Washington Bureau
In January 1973 the U.S. Supreme Court handed down a 7-2 decision which sharply curtailed the power of the states to prohibit or regulate the performance of abortions.

The decision defined new legal principles which had the effect of liberalizing abortion laws across the country. But it by no means put an end to the controversy this subject arouses.

There is an index of depth and breadth of that controversy in the emotions aroused by the trial of a Boston doctor on charges of manslaughter arising from an abortion performed under Massachusetts law.

The jury's decision that he had wrongfully taken a life in the course of the operation could lead to another appeal to the Supreme Court for a clarification of abortion laws.

Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin is insisting, with the support of spokesmen for the American Medical Association that he had done nothing that was "illegal, immoral or bad medical practice."

On the other hand, the verdict against him has given heart to organizations that have been trying to reverse the trend toward a more liberal view of abortion which the 1973 Supreme Court decision represents.

Members of these organizations are as strong in their moral convictions as are the supporters of Dr. Edelin. It is being contended that a child was killed who could actually have been allowed to be born and to live a normal life.

The Boston case raises once again the question of when, during the course of a pregnancy, an unborn fetus shall be regarded as a human being.

That question stands on the frontier of human understanding. How one answers it may depend more on his religious and other beliefs than upon clinical or biological factors.

Moreover, the abortion controversy is colored by sociological and political theories, such as the issue of population control and the issue of the rights of expectant mothers.

The courts enter into an area that is almost mystical when they try to define what is taking place in a mother's womb.

The words "life" and "death" roll off our tongues easily, but even doctors do not agree on exactly how to apply them to a biological organism.

The medical profession is not wholly in agreement on what vital functions must cease in order to declare a person dead. The recent case in which a man in Milwaukee came "back to life," 12 hours after he was officially pronounced dead, is a case in point.

The abortion dilemma — in its purely legal sense — might be resolved if lawmakers and the courts could rely upon incontrovertible scientific facts — or upon a body of widely accepted professional opinion in making decisions that involve life and death.

The only fact that seems to generate no dispute is that the number of abortions being performed in America has risen sharply since the 1973 liberalization of the law.

It is estimated they numbered 900,000 last year, ranking second only to tonsillectomies in the types of surgery most frequently performed.

Americans appear to be as far as ever from general agreement on whether abortion laws as permissive as those now in effect are right or wrong.

Smith poised for economic upturn

By BILL WINTER

Nineteen seventy-four will be long remembered by A. O. Smith Corporation for two reasons — its centennial as an industry, and its severe economic problems stemming from the energy crisis and recession.

The year referred to was brought to the fore last week with arrival of A. O. Smith's annual report.

In addition to discussing the year that has just ended, the report takes a look ahead, viewing 1975 with relative confidence.

A. O. Smith's one hundredth year as a company was its twentieth as a member of the Granite City industrial family.

Auto frames are produced here for General Motors full-size cars.

A. O. Smith Corp. is a diversified manufacturer serving customers in basic and essential industries in the United States and abroad.

The company's principal customers are the automotive industry; oil and natural gas companies; manufacturers of appliances, air conditioning systems and refrigeration equipment; commercial builders; plumbing wholesalers and utility companies; farmers and ranchers; and railroad car builders.

A. O. Smith is the world's largest manufacturer of automobile and truck frames.

It is the leading producer of petroleum measuring systems, and the major manufacturer of automated and manual processing and storage systems.

It holds leading positions in the manufacture of water heating equipment and electric motors used in water systems, air conditioning and refrigeration. It is also one of the major elevator manufacturers in North America.

Since its founding in 1874, A. O. Smith has pioneered many technical achievements which helped build the company from a small manufacturer of carriages and bicycle frames to one which manufactures hundreds of products for thousands of customers.

Today, 101 years after its founding, A. O. Smith and its subsidiaries employ 16,000 persons with 18 manufacturing plants around the world.

It has sales and distributor outlets throughout the free world, and its products are in use in nearly every country on earth.

O. Smith has paid cash dividends on its common stock every year since 1940.

Top officers are Lloyd B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, fourth generation of the Smith family to head the company, and Wm. F. Winter, president.

Smith joined the company in 1942 and has served in all phases of its operations. He was elected chairman and chief executive officer in 1967 at the age of 46.

Kuehne, an A. O. Smith employee since 1929, joined the board in 1965 and has been president eight years. He has headed the Contract Products Group, a group vice-president of the Automotive Division as general manager.

The directors include Arthur O. Smith, a great-grandfather of the founder and brother of L. B. Smith; he is president of Arthur Smith Industries, Inc.

Commentary by L. B. Smith and U. T. Kuehne relate that 1974, the company's 100th anniversary, "was a stormy year marked by unsettled economic and political conditions worldwide."

"Our economy, as well as those of the rest of the free world, was sharply affected by the Arab oil embargo and later by the skyrocketing price of Middle East crude."

"Our nation's excesses in the past decade came home to roost in the form of escalating inflation and a softening in business activity.

"With the removal of government controls, which for several years had interfered with the normal competitive action of a free market, a surge in wages and prices took place."

"Shortages also developed during this period as a direct result of these controls," the chairman and president point out.

An important part of A. O. Smith's business is associated with the construction and automotive markets, which business leaders have joined in particularly hard hit.

"However, those related to petroleum and agricultural markets did well."

"Our capital expenditures in 1974 of $28,000,000 were a record for the corporation."

"Most of the money was spent to increase capacity in those areas where we feel that good market potential exists."

"We remain most enthusiastic about the growth potential of our subsidiary, A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc., whose products have revolutionized the livestock feeding industry."

"To support this market opportunity, a new manufacturing plant in DeKalb, Ill., with a capacity of 100,000 structures, will be in full production in 1975."

"An expansion of Harvestore's Elkhart, Ind., plant was also begun last year. It will provide 50 per cent capacity increase in 1975 for underloaders used with Harvestore feeders."

"Other expansions begun in 1974 include an addition to the Little Rock, Ark., plant of the LIFO method Division, and the leasing of additional space in Tulsa, Okla., for the assembly of large metering systems for the Meter Systems Division."

While we will be approving only the most essential capital expenditures in 1975, we will expand our water heater manufacturing capacity in a new plant when Harvestore moves its structure manufacturing operation to DeKalb.

"Our water heater business was operating at capacity in 1973 and for a good part of 1974, and, therefore, we will need to replace capacity in order to meet increased demand when the economy turns."

"It would appear that 1975 will continue to be a turbulent year, with the storm abating, hopefully, by year-end."

"Outgoing trends have been, and will continue to be, to bat down the hatches and conserve the company's financial strength."

"We have been taken to reduce personnel as well as all types of corporate expense, to increase efficiencies and to retool capacity for increased prices to the maximum extent allowed by competition."

"The most insidious effect of inflation is the added strain it places on the corporation's liquidity in the form of the skyrocketing price of money to finance the same unit volume."

As a consequence, effective cash flow management is becoming even more imperative.

This subject has received a great deal of attention, resulting in specific cash use or cash generation goals for each of the company's divisions."

The true picture of the business which will result in an improvement in the company's liquidity — and a major reduction in short-term indebtedness over the next two years."

"To aid in this objective, and to report financial results more appropriately in an inflationary environment, the board of directors elected in December to adopt the LIFO method last in, first out) of valuing the majority of our domestic inventory beginning with 1974.

"During 1974, F. Perry Wilson, chairman and chief executive officer of the Union Carbide Corp., was elected to the board of directors."

"He replaced Ellisha Gray II, former chairman of Wheelabrator, who served on the board since 1968."

"While we regret Mr. Gray's retirement from the board, and will miss his excellent counsel, we are pleased that Mr. Wilson, an experienced and able business leader, has joined us."

"Although 1974 was a difficult year, and 1975 appears to present additional difficult challenges, we feel confident that we have the people at A. O. Smith to not only weather this unusual period, but to come out it stronger and more vigorous than ever," Smith and Kuehne concluded.

Unit sales of A. O. Smith auto frames were off 33 per cent from a year ago while unit sales of truck frames were up 17 per cent from 1973.

Total division dollar sales, however, were down only 15 per cent because of inflation from $274 million in 1973 to $274 million.

Profits were adversely affected by higher material costs, excise taxes and the adverse effects of very low volume followed by excessive volume.

As a result of these factors and a three-week strike at the Milwaukee plant, Automotive Division profits were off substantially from 1973.

A comparable accounting basis, after allowing for the effect of the change from the FIFO to the LIFO inventory valuation method, the division reported a loss for the year.

In the early part of 1974, the Automotive Division was hurt by precipitous drop in sales when consumer withdrawal of new passenger car market as a result of the gasoline shortage.

At one point in the first quarter of 1974, the number of passenger car frames was 50 per cent below the first quarter of 1973.

"Business and city officials continue to refuse to raise the necessary funds for a revitalization of downtown. They cannot expect the consumers to supply the extra funds by way of their shopping dollars when there are many other modern and convenient shopping areas in this community and nearby communities."

Granite City needs a mall area for its downtown.

An attractive mall area with modern shopping facilities could be the proper competition for the more modern shopping plazas of the north and east.

The downtown area could serve the south and west sectors of Granite City and the neighboring communities of Madison, Vandalia and the Army installation quite adequately.

However, if the downtown business area and the city government continue their practice of inaction and lack of financial interest in fulfilling this potential "magnet" for new business, downtown Granite City will surely die.

No, fellow Granite Cityans, downtown is not dead yet; however, it obviously has terminal apathy.

An example of this sort of effort and the resulting business it has generated are the structural components for the new American Motors Corp. "Pacer" which will incorporate an isolated front cross member and control arms manufactured by A. O. Smith.

This new sub-compact vehicle was publicly unveiled in early 1975.

During 1974, the Automotive Division shipped its first truck side members and cross members to Europe under contract with Ford of England.

This contract marks the first use in Europe of the very high strength die-quenched truck side members that have proven successful in the United States.

A program to reduce energy consumption resulted in the division's Milwaukee plant earning one of five national awards presented in 1974 by Iron Age, a leading industrial publication, for energy conservation.

It cited the plant for a 50 per cent reduction in steam requirements for parts washing operations.

This and other measures have resulted in a reduction in total heating energy for the Milwaukee plant of about 40 per cent.

Despite the problems cited, overall sales by A. O. Smith Corp. in 1974 reached $500 million, almost matching the previous year's $505 million.

Stakes of automotive products, electric motors and railroad equipment dropped from $390 million to $344 million, but there were gains by building products, $128 to $131 million, agricultural products, $58 to $73 million, and petroleum products, meters and computer systems, $28 million to $41 million.

Wants new effort to create a mall

To the Editor:

Can anyone in the business community or the city government tell the people of Granite City that it is impossible to establish a mall area downtown?

I suppose the proposal has been usually set aside because there has been obviously no action taken to make the mall area a reality.

During these times of inflation and recession, both downtown businesses and city government may find it easy to say "when there are no funds" or "the deficit would be too large for such a project." They may be right.

However, I would like to know why there was no immediate action taken to get the mall proposal moving and working for the community in early years when the proposal was officially presented?

On March 3, 1973, the Press-Record reported a bond issue which would be retired from special assessments charged to the owners of property in and adjoining the mall area.

It was also reported in the same article that "construction costs are estimated at $500,000."

What happened to these plans?

On March 26, 1973, Alderman Paul Schuler, mayoral candidate, was quoted in a Press-Record article as saying that "our downtown area must be revitalized because, whether we admit it or not, a city's downtown area reflects the mood and attitude of the community."

Thus far there has been no

"revitalization," and the movement of business and general interest away from the downtown area is apparent. It is suggested that you write Mayor Schuler or Downtown Granite City, Inc., and voice your disapproval.

Primitive man's religious beliefs, strong family ties

Although Man and Woman have lived on earth for more than two million years, it is only for the last 5,000 of these that he or she has left written records.

For all but this tiny portion of Man's total span, our only knowledge of what he looked like and how he lived is based on the rare traces of his existence that have survived — fossilized bones, stone tools, broken pottery, carvings on rocks and paintings in caves.

Now a new book, "The Last Two Million Years," published by the Reader's Digest Association, traces the evolutionary process which led from "missing link" to the emergence of our own species, Homo sapiens, who developed the globe today.

In the first section on early Man, the book describes the progress of mankind from its "cradle" in Africa: how Man learned to walk, how he made tools and create fire, how he hunted and raised cattle and grew crops.

The section also suggests that Neanderthal Man — far from being the brutish, insensitive creature that many have painted him — may actually have been the first of Man's ancestors to have simple religious beliefs, to hold belief in an after-life, and to enjoy strong family ties.

Part Two of The Last Two Million Years — which comprises nearly half of the book's total content — deals with the great civilizations of history: The Sumerians, who devised a system of writing and were the first people known to have used wheeled vehicles.

The Ancient Egyptians, builders of some of history's greatest monuments.

The Minos; the Mycenaeans; the Chinese, who founded a civilization that lasted for more than 3,000 years.

The Maya, extraordinary astronomers and mathematicians, who created an astonishingly accurate calendar.

The cruel and aristocratic Aztecs; the Romans, Celts and Vikings.

Describes Chilkoot Trail hike

Miss Virginia Segar described in vivid detail the journey to Alaska and the experiences she encountered on a 32-mile hike along the old Chilkoot Trail for members of Travelers Abroad at their meeting last week at Prather Junior High School.

The speaker was introduced by Edmund Fierner, program chairman.

In the business session, Miss Jane Elkins, Mrs. Mary Hiller and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pape were received as new members. Special guests for the program were Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Segar.

Frequently called the "meanest 32 miles in history," the Chilkoot Trail stretches from Skagway to Bennett, Alaska, Miss Segar said. Each person on the walking tour was required to backpack a 25-pound load, she noted.

"It is said that no other place in the world did so many people voluntarily subject themselves to so much agony, misery, death and glory than the thousands who rushed to the Klondike gold fields in 1897 and 1898," Miss Segar said.

Early prospectors were harassed by the Indians, she related, but in 1874 one white man through persistent bargaining obtained the Indians' permission to make the journey. By 1880 the Indians had agreed to serve as packers and began carrying 160-pound packs the entire 32 miles for a $9 fee, she explained.

The first big gold strike was in 1896, Miss Segar said. During the next two years more than 100,000 persons made stampeded into the region seeking the glittering metal.

Today, Miss Segar said, the Chilkoot is known as the most beautiful trail in the Northwest and the "longest museum in the world."

Religious education workshops this week

Richard Reichert, editor of the Green Bay Plan, a curriculum guide for the Diocese of Green Bay, Wis., will give two workshops in the Springfield Diocese: Friday, March 7, at Sacred Heart Convent, 1237 W. Scholar award competition

Twenty-four faculty members of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have indicated plans to compete in the second annual University Research Scholar Award Program, according to John Rodman, coordinator of the SIUE Office of Research and Projects.

Rodman said the 34 faculty members submitted brief prospectuses of their research proposals so the Research Office could assist the investigators in the final preparation of their proposals. However, any faculty member who has not submitted a prospectus may still submit a research proposal before the March 14 deadline, Rodman announced.

The program is sponsored jointly by the Graduate School and other schools of the University. The schools and the numbers of prospecti received are:

School of Dental Medicine, three; Education, two; Fine Arts, three; Humanities, eight; Science and Technology, five; and Social Sciences, three.

Review and evaluation of the proposals will be made by the School Research and Projects Review Committee, external consultants and an all-university research committee. The winner will be announced by May 30.

The principal investigator of the outstanding research proposal will receive one-third released time plus full funding of the project, not to exceed $10,000 in other direct costs. If a researcher needs the summer

Legislator of year award to Sen. Vadalabene

State Sen. Sam Vadalabene of this district is among legislators honored by the Illinois Education Association at its annual meeting in late February.

More than 420 teacher-leaders launched the association's "make it happen" campaign to secure statutory rights for teacher collective bargaining as they met for their three-day convention at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago.

On the final day, delegates re-elected Woody Lee of Danville as president of the IEA, the state's largest teacher organization.

The IEA Representative Assembly reaffirmed an earlier decision of the association board to conduct an effort to legally formalize negotiations between school boards and education associations. Delegates also established major policies for the state organization and adopted a yearly budget.

Highlighting the assembly were addresses by National Education Association Executive Secretary Terry Herndon of Washington and Illinois Office of Education Superintendent Joseph Cronin. Ten driver training instructors, all IEA members, were honored with public service awards from Secretary of State Michael Howlett for their participation on his Vehicle Rules of the Road Committee.

Named as legislators of the year were Republican legislators Rep. "Giddy" Dyer of Hinsdale and Sen. John Roe of Rochelle and Democratic legislators Rep. Jack Hill of Aurora and Sen. Kenneth Hall of East St. Louis and Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville. Heading the list of recipients for second annual human relations awards was the Rev. Jesse Jackson of Chicago, president of Operation Push. Other recipients were Albert Raby of Chicago, Carmen Velasquez of Chicago, Edna Stief of O'Fallon, Elaine Hegy of West Aurora, Maria Swanson of Mt. Prospect, Agnes Huston of Springfield, the Urbana Education Association human relations committee, Ella Pappademos of Oak Park and James Lippert of Alton.

months to effectively undertake his research efforts, up to two months summer salary may be charged against the amount awarded by the Graduate School, Rodman said.

If there are sufficient meritorious entries for two categories, a senior and a junior scholar grant will be awarded. Rodman said. Faculty members who have completed their terminal degree after July 1, 1969, are eligible for the junior award.

Rodman is urging other faculty members to contact the Office of Research and Projects if they are contemplating entering the scholar award competition.

Retired GC official notes 90th birthday

Cleve Curtright, retired Granite City superintendent of streets, celebrated his 90th birthday last week.

Inclement weather causing icy sidewalks prevented Mr. Curtright from taking his daily walk or visiting in the neighborhood that day, so friends elected to telephone him and offer their congratulations. He received several calls from out-of-town friends as well as chatting with many local residents.

Mr. Curtright lives at 1201 Kirkpatrick Homes. He was elected superintendent of streets for an initial two-year term in the mid-1920s and successfully ran for the same office for consecutive four-year terms in four elections. He retired in 1963.

He served as street superintendent under four Granite City mayors—M. E. Kirkpatrick, mayor from 1935 to 1942; E. B. Grantham, 1942 to 1945; Charles Moerlein, 1945 to 1949; and Leonard Davis, 1949 to 1963.

Current Superintendent of Streets Lionel Portell, who was among those talking with Mr. Curtright by phone Monday, reported the former city official is in good health, gets out every day that weather permits and is as "sharp as a tack."

Mr. Curtright is a widower. His son, Eldon, is a former principal and teacher in the Granite City School District.

Emergency medical training for police

Law Enforcement 299, Emergency Medical Training for Police, a course especially designed to meet the needs of law enforcement officers who must provide life sustaining first-aid to sick or injured citizens in the field, will be offered by Belleville Area College.

The four-day, two-credit hour course will be conducted at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 25-28.

The course satisfies the health requirement of the law enforcement program of Belleville Area College.

Classes will be conducted in the new police laboratory by Sgt. Leroy Week, a certified emergency medical training instructor. Sgt. Week is a veteran officer with the Belleville police. John Santoro of the Belleville Memorial Hospital Trauma Center will act as consultant.

Tuition and fees are $21 for previously enrolled students (textbook and handout material included) and a $10 admission fee for students attending BAC for the first time. Special funds are available to certain eligible students who apply for reimbursement.

Students desiring to register for the class are to call Miss Barbara Brestal at 235-2700, Ext. 262, before March 18. Their names will be placed on a class roster and enrollment will be limited to 40 students.

On March 25, the first day of the class, students are to arrive in the classroom by 7:30 a.m. so that formal registration may be completed; only those students whose names appear on the roster will be enrolled.

Grant use of park facilities

Three requests for use of park district facilities were approved last week at a regular meeting of the Granite City Park Board.

The Cahokia Mound Council of the Boy Scouts of America was granted permission to use the Wilson Park facilities for a Webelos father and son camporee on May 30-31. The council estimates some 75 persons will attend the annual event.

Permission was granted to the Lutheran Church Bureau to arrange for an Easter Sunrise Service at the Wilson Park ice rink on March 30. The service will be from 7 a.m. to 7:30 a.m.

A request by the Rev. B. Eugene Dutton of the Second Baptist Church to allow the Madison County Baptist Association to conduct an area-wide religious crusade at the West Granite City Park also was granted. The crusade, featuring an evangelistic team from Dallas, Tex., will take place the week of Aug. 25-31.

Traffic control contracts let

Contract for installation of a flashing beacon signal at Illinois Route 111 and Illinois Route 287 north of Godfrey was awarded by the Illinois Department of Transportation last week to R. Dron Electrical Co. of Granite City on a bid of $1,577.

Illinois Bell hopes for rate increase of 17%

"We are dismayed at the Illinois Commerce Commission's order denying our Cost and Efficiency Adjustment clause," Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Bell Telephone Co., told the Press-Record Friday.

"We feel the commission missed the merits of the CEAC concept, which demands efficiency, provides for prompt reductions as well as increases in rates, and puts a ceiling on profits.

"More puzzling is the commission's claim that our earnings are excessive.

"Any move to require refunds is incredible in the light of our skidding earnings. Depressed demands for service, and continuing inflation eating away at our financial health,

"Under the circumstances, we shall seek an immediate increase in rates through the traditional rate case route.

"We will ask promptly to do so, and we will ask for interim rate relief to tide us over until the formal case is concluded.

"Admittedly, for the first time in years, our 1974 earnings moved toward the level we need to insure the quality telephone service which the public expects and deserves.

"But now, once again, our earnings are below the level authorized by the commission and will continue to trend downward.

"It must be remembered that one good year after a series of bleak ones does not spell prosperity.

"The irrefutable facts of life are that our expenses—increasing a wage and benefit bill or more than $355 million over a three-year period—climb unabated.

"Last month, for example, our expenses increased twice as fast as our revenues compared with January 1974. We are earning less today than the commission authorized," Latimer said.

"We will ask the commission for a prompt rehearing of the CEAC case in the hope that we can demonstrate the merits of our proposal.

"We are especially eager to refute the contention that this concept is an abdication of regulatory authority.

"I fail to see how the commission can find that a fuel adjustment clause for electric and gas companies is unjustifiable, but a comparable formula for telephone companies is not."

The traditional rate hike request for a 17 per cent increase generating $175 million to $200 million yearly. The interim request will be for $60 million to $70 million.

Production of steel rebounds

Domestic raw steel production bounced back during January after hitting a 27-month low in December, when output was crippled by the year-long coal strike, newly released statistics showed today.

Mills in this country produced 11,511,000 tons of steel in January, a jump of 53,000 tons from December's 10,960,000 tons of output.

During the first month of this year, basic oxygen and electric furnace steel production was up substantially from December. January BOF output was 5,377,000 tons, compared to 5,092,000 tons the previous month. Electric furnaces poured 3,446,000 tons of raw steel in January, a gain of 100,000 tons over December.

Open hearth production continued to decline. In January, these furnaces made 2,488,000 tons of steel, a drop of 23,000 tons from the month before.

In January 1974, domestic steel production reached 12,726,000 tons. Of this total, 7,065,000 tons came from basic oxygen furnaces, 3,303,000 tons from open hearths and 2,358,000 tons from electric furnaces.

The steelmaking index, based on average 1967 production as 100, stood at 106.5 in January 1975. This compared with an index of 101.4 in December and 111.1 in November.

The local attorney commented that "investigation of the problem disclosed that the demand by some insurance companies has not resulted from excessive verdicts or the volume of claims."

He contended that "medical societies used one insurer principally to underwrite all the members of its organization within a particular state or area."

"This has created a monopoly of the business in just a few insurance carriers and has eliminated many competing carriers who would otherwise be in the field," Chapman alleged.

"BIG E" AWARD was presented by Explorer Post 10-4 to two different operations of George Lindsey International for support of the Cahokia Mound Scout Council and Explorer Post 10-4. From left, Mel Schiemer and Joe Piff of the GLI Swiss Villa resort in Lampe, Mo., and Tommy Lane, co-owner and operator of Granite City Lindsey Steak House, receiving the award from Jack Small, president of 10-4.

10-4 Explorers honor benefactors

Madison Police Officer Charles Bridick was honored last week at Explorer Post 10-4's annual family night dinner in the Madison Recreation Center, attended by 172 parents and post committee members.

Bridick was presented with the "Big E" award in appreciation of his continued support of the activities of Post 10-4 since it was organized in 1969.

Post President Jack Small noted that Officer Bridick frequently presented programs to the post, instructed them in the proper use of firearms and self-defense, in addition to serving as a friend and counselor when they needed one.

President Small also presented the "Big E" award to Tommy Lane, co-owner and operator of the Granite City George Lindsey Restaurant, for the restaurant's support of the council with "Steak a boy to camp" promotions and for the restaurant's interest and support of the Explorer program. Lane and the Greater Granite City Restaurant Association are in the preliminary stages of organizing an Explorer post.

Small also presented the "Big E" to Mel Schiemer and Joe Piff, representing the land development division of George Lindsey International which operates a Swiss Villa resort area on Table Rock Lake, in Lampe, Mo. The officers and advisors of the post have been the guests of GLI, staying at "Goobers" personal villa several times during the past four years.

Lenny Kiebler, executive vice-president of GLI, is a native of Granite City and formerly was active in Scout work here.

Chief of Police Frank Dutko, who gave the official welcome said, "I am really glad that so many of the Explorer parents are here tonight. When parents take a sincere interest in their children and the activities of their children, it makes me feel real good."

"It is largely due to the support of our parents over the years that has made this Explorer group the finest in the area."

"There is hardly a week goes by that I don't get either a letter or a telephone call from an Explorer parent wanting to know how we operate. I have received letters from departments in POLICEMAN HONORED. Madison Police Officer Charles Bridick, left, was presented the "Big E" award for his active support over the past five years of Explorer Post 10-4. The presentation was made by Jack Small, right, president of the post during the Explorers' annual family night program last week in the Madison Recreation Center.

Salina, Kan., in Alabama and Kentucky, and last week Chief Bob Westman of Salem, Ill. wanted information on Post 10-4.

"We of the police department are proud to sponsor these fine men and help them in anyway we can. We are very proud of the support you, the parents, give to the explorers," Dutko concluded.

Kevin Kearns, second vice-president of the post and program chairman, held a contest at the start of the meeting to see who could yell "10-4" the loudest. The parents won.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat (Cathy) Busch spoke to the parents on the financial problems of the local Cahokia Mound Council and invited them to support the council through a family enrollment campaign. The campaign will kick off on Monday with a meeting at 7:30 p.m. at St. Elizabeth School cafeteria, 2300 Pontoon Road.

J. Richard Hooks, Venice, post advisor, presented members with official membership cards. Hooks also narrated a slide presentation on the post with highlights of various past activities over the past several years.

Brad Crown first vice-president of 10-4, opened the program by leading everyone in the "Pledge of Allegiance" and

Bonds could end the state's flexibility to tackle future programs—Lindberg

Illinois lawmakers realistically must consider the costs of the governor's proposed $4.1 billion bond program against the state's deteriorating financial position, Illinois Comptroller George W. Lindberg said Friday.

In a special analysis in his monthly fiscal report, Lindberg stressed: "Financing projects through bonding is not free."

"Embarking on another big spending program at this time could wipe out the legislature's flexibility in approving other new programs for years to come."

The comptroller said this fiscal year's spending has outstripped the state's revenue in its general funds, and he added: "I expect the governor to present a budget for the next fiscal year that will continue that trend."

Increased demands on the state treasury from the welfare program alone could chew up half the expected $300 million growth in state income for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1975, Lindberg said, "unless the governor dumps ineligible and holds down welfare costs."

The new school aid formula will require $145 million more in the coming fiscal year, Lindberg said.

In addition, he said, Gov. Daniel Walker's bond program as presented in his special message to the General Assembly would cost as much as $75 million in interest and principal payments in fiscal 1975-76, "further jeopardizing the already declining balance in the treasury available to underwrite the state's day-to-day operations."

"By fiscal 1978-79, debt service payments on the new program may exceed $250 million," the comptroller said. The remainder of the monthly report dealt with the first seven months of fiscal year 1974-75, during which the available balance in general funds dropped from $453 million to $228 million.

General fund receipts in the seven-month period were $225 million higher than comparable receipts in 1973-74, while spending eclipsed the 1973-74 seven-month figure by $390 million.

General funds include the common schools, federal revenue sharing and general revenue. They comprise about 70 per cent of state spending and are "the best barometer of whether the state is living within its means," Lindberg said.

Optimists hear talk on nutrition

The value of good nutrition was explained to the Granite City Optimist Club at its Thursday noon meeting in the YMCA by Mrs. Darlene Heer.

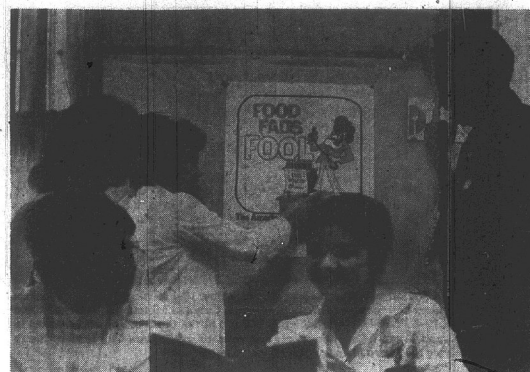

Mrs. Heer is an associate Home Economics extension advisor with the University of Illinois Co-operative Extension Service serving Madison County.

Mrs. Dorothy Johnson who works with the summer training program of the extension service also was a guest of the club.

She explained her work with the 4-H program and how the program that began for rural youth has now become popular in the cities.

Mrs. Orr emphasized the importance of training young people the value of eating, nourishing foods.

David Brooks, vice-president, announced the club's annual pancake day will be Sunday, April 20, at the Nameoki Recreation center.

NATIONAL NUTRITION WEEK program is mapped by dieticians at St. Elizabeth Hospital. A week-long presentation of educational materials and activities opened Sunday and will continue through Saturday. Inspecting poster, from left, are Mrs. Carry Embick, Mrs. Excelsa Bassel and Matt Ingram, while Miss Cynthia Reed and Mrs. Leni Javier, seated, look over brochures.

Nutrition Week opens here

"Food Fads Fool" is the theme of this year's National Nutrition Week being celebrated at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The dietitians of the hospital staff have planned a week long presentation of educational materials and activities aimed at combatting food fads and misinformation. The program opened yesterday and will continue through Saturday.

American consumers have a food supply that is unsurpassed in quantity, variety and nutritional value. Yet, in the well-fed, and in many ways, well-informed country, a great deal of nonsense about food exists, a staff spokesman said. The increased receptiveness and consciousness of the public in regards to nutrition and health have provided an opportunity for food faddism to flourish. It is estimated that at least 10 million persons in the United States are influenced by dietary fads and an estimate of money spent for special health foods or vitamin products is over $200 million, the spokesman added.

The public is invited to attend "open house" at the Nutrition Clinic through Friday.

from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Room 127. A "Dial-a-Dietitian" exchange will be available from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., today through Friday for those desiring any information by phone. The number is 876-2020, ext. 214. Brochures, pamphlets, recipes and consultations will be provided.

Information regarding nutrients and composition will be made available to the patients in the hospital. Displays of nutrient composition of foods will be located throughout the hospital.

FSA to attend seminar

A panel of secretaries representing the Tri-Cities Chapter of National Secretaries Association provided the program at a meeting of the Madison High School Future Secretaries Association.

Serving as panel members were Mrs. Sally Gracey, retired employee of Necco Steel Barrell; Mrs. Helen Gieszelmann, Madison Metal Decorating Co.; Mrs. Dorothy Nappier, Granite City Steel and Mrs. Debbie Kutz, a government employee. The latter two also are Madison High School graduates.

Among the questions the student members asked related to the value of further education beyond high school. Debbie Bailey, president, conducted the business session. She announced all who plan to attend the FSA seminar in Bloomington on Saturday, March 8, should have their registration fee of $4.50 turned in by today.

Local members of both Madison and Granite City High School Chapters will travel to the seminar from Roxana by bus which they will share with the Alpha-Illini, FSA Chapter. 3 charged in theft

after crash

Three young men were charged after their 1964 Ford Mustang was involved in an accident and a quantity of copper allegedly was reported found in the car.

Police were dispatched to the Archer Daniels Midland Co. (former Union Starch) corn plant at 19th Street and the railroad tracks, where the Invirex Demolition Corp., New York, is demolishing the plant.

Invirex officials said young men stole some copper rods and fled in an auto. One official reported he took his automobile and followed them to get a license number.

As his auto approached the other car, the official said, the fleeing auto drove to the left shoulder of the roadway. As the official's auto began to pass, the car containing three young men turned suddenly in front of his auto, and the vehicles collided, he contended.

Three young men then fled on foot from the car, officers were told. Police arrested two young men at 20th and Benton streets and found another in the Prairie Farms Dairy lot, 18th and Adams streets.

James Riggs, 19, of 1642 E. 22nd St., who allegedly drove the auto, was charged with theft, reckless driving, failure to give information after an accident, no driver's license and improper display of license plates.

Also charged with theft were Stephen Mueller, 22, who gave an address on East 23rd Street, and Charles Johnston, 24, who gave an address on 22nd Street.

Police said they found 22 copper rods, each five to six feet long, inside the auto Riggs is charged with driving.

Many are failing to apply for 'circuit breaker' tax rebates

By ROBERT H. ALLPHIN
Director
Illinois Department of Revenue

Since Jan. 1, 1973, more than $38 million have been awarded to senior and disabled citizens of Illinois under the "Senior Citizens and Disabled Persons Property Tax Relief Act," commonly called the "Circuit Breaker Law."

Nearly 250,000 grants have been awarded under the program, administered by the Illinois Department of Revenue, since it was enacted two years ago.

Last year, the average grant amounted to $160. There are many people in Illinois who are eligible but not applying for the grants. I have a feeling that part of the reason is that these people see the Circuit Breaker program as some sort of give-away or charity.

We know that those who would benefit from the Circuit Breaker are an especially proud group of people. They are people who have faced the challenges of age or disability. That's a very personal thing, and most of our elderly and disabled citizens have had the stamina to make whatever adjustments were necessary.

The pride these people have taken in overcoming the problems of handicaps and years is well deserved. And the Circuit Breaker Law is not intended to disturb that.

What it is designed to do is help ensure that people who worked long and hard to own or rent their homes can continue to live in them.

The law is a recognition that the same people who have been able to deal with age and disability are subject to greater economic pressures than others. Their incomes have not kept pace with rising expenses, including increased property taxes.

Circuit Breakers is intended to help balance those things. Homeowners and renters alike are eligible.

The requirements are that the person be 65 or older or have a disability expected to last a year or more; have an annual income of $10,000 or less; owe property taxes or pay rent on their residence or privilege tax on their mobile home; and live in Illinois at the time the application is filed.

Persons who live in nursing or shelter care homes subject to property taxes are eligible. We encourage people who meet those qualifications to apply for a grant. The Department of Revenue will assist any senior or disabled person with the application.

Forms, information and assistance can be obtained by calling toll free (800) 252-8972 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Noise and pollution after Lambert expansion are called unacceptable

The St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority's executive director, Arven H. Saunders, told the board last week that an analysis of the latest master plan for Lambert Field is continuing and in the next few weeks will be ready for forwarding to the Federal Aviation Administration and the Department of Transportation, as required by law.

The Airport Authority is urging creation of a major new airport at Columbia-Waterloo, Ill.

One nearly-completed phase of the analysis of the Lambert master plan covers environmental impact and is being conducted with the assistance of Arthur D. Little, Inc., an internationally respected consulting organization, Saunders said.

Briefly, the Arthur D. Little experts find:

1. The master plan "grossly underestimates" the size of the area and the number of people around Lambert who will be subjected to increased noise impact through "improvements" and expansion programs.

2. Implementation of the master plan would significantly increase air pollution around Lambert; the most serious increase would be created by a proposed new airport access freeway which would parallel Interstate 70.

3. The master plan would leave to the communities and the individuals living around the airport the cost burden of dealing with the problem of increased noise.

4. The Arthur D. Little firm emphasizes that such cost and such impact must, under federal law, be dealt with by a master plan—both in terms of whether the plan even meets legal restrictions against adverse environmental impact, and in terms of the cost of correcting problems created by improvements leading to heavier use.

In this connection, the City of St. Louis already has had to pay $2 million to adjoining property owners; the responsibility and the obligations are well established in the Lambert vicinity, Little said.

The Los Angeles airport now handles fewer passengers than the master planners project for Lambert. Damage claims already in litigation against the City of Los Angeles total billions of dollars, it was asserted.

The Arthur D. Little firm questions many of the master planners' assumptions about aircraft mix and size, runway usage patterns and a two-angle approach pattern that underlie the planners' estimates of noise impact.

Saunders commented, "The references to the two-angle approach pattern speak only of current debates over safety."

The references to the two-angle approach pattern speak only of current debates over safety. The evaluation team that reported findings at the special meeting Feb. 12 emphasized that the two-angle approach could not be used with the proposed instrument system on which the master plan depends for increasing Lambert's capacity to handle additional aircraft takeoffs and landings.

"Indeed, the analysis of the environmental impact of the master plan reinforces the conclusions of the evaluation team that the two-angle approach could not be used with the proposed instrument system on which the master plan depends for increasing Lambert's capacity to handle additional aircraft takeoffs and landings."

Saunders noted that the evaluation team said: "There is little increase in capacity available at Lambert for the future aircraft mix of air carrier and commuter traffic."

"Lambert will become an increasingly crowded, marginal operation as movement rates are increased."

"Lambert cannot have first-class instrument approach capability."

"Thus, if the St. Louis metropolitan area desires first-class air service, it needs air carrier airport capacity and runway capability beyond what can be provided at Lambert Field," the team concluded.

Saunders remarked to the Airport Authority board, "As already discussed, the Parsons master plan falls short in providing the additional capacity that the St. Louis area must have."

"In addition, as the Arthur D. Little report points out, the master plan fails to comply with the basic limitations under which the federal government authorized and heavily financed the planning, in the first place."

"The terms said that the master plan study 'shall not extend beyond Lambert's present boundaries to land areas the acquisition of which would be economically or technically infeasible, involve unreasonable adverse environmental impact, or would cause unreasonable residential displacement.'"

"Clearly, the Arthur D. Little analysis shows that the recommendations of the master plan violate both of these restrictions."

"Thus, the master plan has two fundamental deficiencies. First, it does not provide the needed capacity. Second, implementation of the plan would violate existing federal laws and regulations."

"In light of these vital defects, we believe the federal government should reject the Parsons master plan, and that the plan be revised to allow improvement of Lambert to the limited extent possible, and approve the Authority's application to develop a new major airport for St. Louis at Columbia-Waterloo," Saunders concluded.

Group 9 bankers to meet Road bond program being called faulty

Dean E. Kamper, Illinois Bankers Association Group 9 president, and president of the First National Bank of Belleville, has announced the details of the group's annual spring meeting to be held Thursday, at Augustine's Restaurant, Belleville.

Group 9 includes 83 member banks in Bond, Clinton, Fayette, Madison, Marion, Monroe, Randolph, St. Clair and Washington counties.

The one-day meeting will begin at 3:30 p.m. with a business session to include a legislative report by Robert C. Schrampe and the election of Group 9 officers for the 1975-76 fiscal year. The business session also has programmed a representative from the Shell Oil Co. to address the group, and a discussion of IRA, HE-10, and an update of EFTS and the Automated Clearing House.

Featured dinner speaker will be Dr. Loren Young, Doctor of Divinity, Atlanta, Ga. IBA President William O. Kurtz, president of the Metropolitan Bank and Trust Co., Chicago, will be on hand to extend greetings.

Other officers of Group 9 include: Vice President Norman Stein, executive vice president of the First National Bank of Carlyle, and Secretary-Treasurer John A. Hunter, senior vice-president of the Bank of Edwardsville.

"The Walker administration's proposed bond issue for highway reconstruction is like borrowing from Peter to pay Paul, while putting both of them in debt," says Lester W. Brann Jr., president of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

The 19,000-member statewide business organization presented testimony critical of S.B. 128 at a Senate Revenue Committee hearing Thursday.

The measure would authorize a $66 million general bond issue for highway reconstruction.

Brann said:

1. The bond proceeds will be funneled into the general revenue funds, not the road funds. Yet, highway user taxes will be used to pay off the bond principal and interest.

2. It appears the bond proceeds will be used to maintain roads by resurfacing and patching, which lasts for about five years. But the state will be paying for them for the next 25 years. "This would be the first time in Illinois history that highway bond funds will have been used for maintenance operations," Brann said.

3. It appears the road program goals will use up less than half of the total authorized, with no specifics as to what $300 million in bond proceeds will be used for.

4. The bond program will "only delay the bankrupting of the road fund for two years," forcing additional motor fuel tax increases.

"The State Chamber urges the legislature to carefully consider the proposed use of these bonds, and their advisability," Brann said. "This needs time for consideration."

He suggested that the legislature carefully examine the uses made of present highway user taxes. "The amount of highway user taxes for road construction has been getting smaller and smaller in the last few years," he said.

"The condition of the road fund, the uses made of the fund and its future have to be taken into context as a major problem."

Bridge accident traps man in van

A St. Louis man suffered only minor injuries at 9:53 p.m. Saturday when the van he was driving struck the railing at the east end of the McKinley Bridge, Venice, trapping him inside the wreckage.

Venice police said John Cecil Drake, 41, of St. Louis, traveling east on the bridge, apparently failed to make the curve at the east end and careened into the railing, demolishing the vehicle.

Drake was extricated from the van by the Venice Fire Department's rescue unit and taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Drake sustained injuries to the right leg and contusions to the forehead. He had x-rays taken and was released.

He was hired in May 1947 and appointed to the rank of captain in 1959. First indictment on lottery law violation Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott and Cook County State's Attorney Bernard Carey announced Thursday in Chicago the return of the first indictment involving violations of the Illinois Lottery Act.

Indicted Thursday by a Cook County grand jury was Encarnacion Soto, 35, of 1407 W. Erie St., Chicago. The indictment charges Soto with one count of altering a lottery ticket and one count of forgery.

Scott alleged that Soto's alteration was meant to qualify him for an immediate $1,500 and for participation in the "Millionaire's Game."

Soto bought the ticket at a supermarket in his neighborhood and attempted to turn it in at a State Lottery Claim Center, it is contended. The alteration was caught by a state lottery computer.

Scott pointed out that forgeries, even those almost undetectable by the human eye, are rejected immediately by the lottery computer, to which all lottery claims for more than $20 are subjected.

Altering a lottery ticket is a Class 4 felony punishable by a prison term of one to three years and a fine of $10,000. Forgery is a Class 3 felony punishable by a prison term of one to ten years and a fine of $10,000.

The Soto investigation was carried out by the Investigation

Division of the Illinois Department of Revenue. Presenting the case for Attorney General Scott was Assistant Attorney General Michael J. Murphy.

She is survived by one son, Delbert Lampher of Granite City; one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Payse of Colfax, Wash.; four grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.
